

Respiratory Physiologist

Dunedin, New Zealand

Fixed Term, 28 hours per week

One of those rare opportunities....

...has just arrived on your door step, make sure you answer the door!

As an experienced Respiratory Physiologist you can join our fantastic team here in Otago delivering diagnostic services assessing respiratory and sleep function in one of New Zealand's few accredited laboratories.

Your workload will include a range of lung function testing, set up of home based and in-patient sleep studies and CPAP treatment titration studies, including analysis and reporting on these tests/studies.

You'll bring experience in working with people with known or suspected breathing disorders. You'll have excellent communication, administration and computer skills' allowing you to book patient appointments and to manage the associated computer downloads.

As a versatile, innovative, motivated team player you will have a Certification Examination for Respiratory Function Scientists (CRFS), plus proven clinical skills including experience in providing patient education in both the respiratory and sleep disorder situations.

Based at Dunedin Hospital this is a fixed term position, covering parental leave for 28 hours per week (days of work are flexible).

Closing date: 31st January 2012.
